

Federal actions and the wellbeing of Vermonters – what's at stake?

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 7PM | CHARLOTTE PUBLIC LIBRARY
115 Ferry Rd, Charlotte, VT

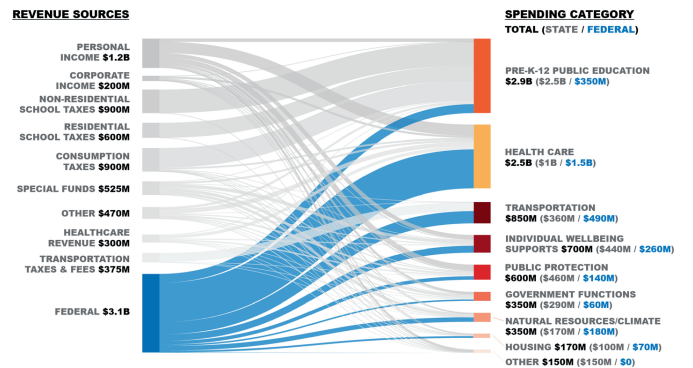

Join Steph Yu and Julie Lowell of the Public Assets Institute to learn about the impacts of federal actions on the state budget – and what Vermonters can do to protect what we value.

The federal government is pulling back on many critical programs and creating uncertainty and disruption in many others.

Federal funding supports much of what we do as a state. From housing, to income support, education, food security and healthcare, there are federal dollars in just about everything that the state does.

State programs rely on federal dollars, some more than others

Vermont state budget by major revenue and spending categories, FY2025

Data source: Vermont Joint Fiscal Office
©2025 Public Assets Institute

Public Assets is a non-profit, non-partisan research organization based in Montpelier. Their mission is to improve the well-being of all Vermonters and advance racial, social, and economic justice through research, fiscal analysis, public engagement and empowerment, and by developing and promoting policies that state government can enact.

